

Hello!

We have been trying to think up just the right words to share with you, but we have simply discovered words alone cannot express our true admiration and love for you, but here is our best attempt. We want you to know that you are so brave and strong. We cannot pretend to know all that you are currently feeling and going through, but we are praying for you - that God would comfort you and give you strength in your journey daily as you make decisions for yourself and your baby. We are grateful that you are taking the time to get to know us a bit more and consider us as adoptive parents to your child. Our beautiful son was born in 2019 and his amazing birth mom chose us to be his parents through adoption. We were then blessed again when our sweet daughter's birth mom chose us in 2021. We were and are overwhelmed by the incredible love that each of these women displayed and continues to display for our children. We also love our children's First Families dearly and feel so blessed that God has knit us together. We are so excited to love and adore another child the way we love and adore our kids. We are so excited to love and admire you! We are humbly hopeful to grow our family through adoption again. We have been praying for you for a very long time - truly since the beginning of our adoption journey. We will continue to pray that God would give you peace to surpass understanding in whatever decision you make. You are loved unconditionally! You are courageous and we would be grateful to walk alongside you.

Love,

Matt and Savanna
